Mr Farmer's message

Dear families,

What a fantastic start to the week we had! On Monday, we were so lucky to have a visit from the brilliant children's poet, James Carter. He performed some of his amazing poems for us, filling the hall with laughter and rhymes. It was incredible to see how a few simple words can create such vivid pictures in our minds and make us feel so many different emotions.

After his performance, James helped everyone become poets themselves. All the children spent time thinking of their own ideas and turning them into wonderful poems. Everyone was so creative, and it was a joy to see pupils writing and performing their own work with such confidence and enthusiasm. Poetry is a powerful tool for helping us express ourselves and use our imagination, and we were reminded of that this week.

A huge thank you to James for a truly inspiring visit! We can't wait to see all the wonderful poems our students will continue to create.

Have a great weekend,
Kind regards,
Mr Farmer

Focus on: Volunteering

Have you ever wondered how you can get more involved in your child's school life? Volunteering is a fantastic way to do just that! Your help makes a huge difference, supporting our teachers and creating a richer learning environment for every student.

We have many opportunities for parents to get involved, no matter your schedule. You can help out in the classroom with activities like reading or art projects. If you prefer to be behind the scenes, you could assist with preparing materials for class projects or helping out at school events like book fairs or field trips. No matter what your skills or availability, there's a place for you on our team. Volunteering is also a wonderful way to connect with our school community. You'll get to know the staff, meet other parents, and gain a deeper understanding of what goes on in the school day. Your presence shows your child that you value their education and are a part of their school journey.

If you're interested in learning more about volunteer roles, please contact the school office. or speak to your child's class teacher. We'd love to have you join us!
